Client Feedback

We will keep you informed and update you as soon as we hear anything from the client. Please note, the timeline for feedback depends on the client's process, which can vary. Rest assured, we are committed to moving the process forward efficiently and will keep you informed every step of the way.

Reflect on Salary / Rate Expectations

Prior to your CV being sent, the Resourcer would have discussed your salary or rate expectations for this position. It's crucial to take the time now to reflect on the agreed-upon salary or rate to ensure it aligns with your expectations and accurately reflects your experience and market value. Keep in mind that the expectation of the client is that the rate/salary you went in at is the rate/salary you could potentially get, so it's important to think about your walkaway figure and the range you are comfortable with.

Reflect on the Commute / Location

Consider the location of the job and the daily commute. Is the commute feasible and sustainable in the long run? Think about the time and cost involved in traveling to and from work. Reflect on how the location might affect your work-life balance and overall job satisfaction.

Review your Current Employment Commitments

It's important to look at your current situation and assess your notice period and any other obligations. Consider the implications of leaving your current role and what that process entails.

- Have you thoroughly reviewed your contract and leave policies?
- Think about potential counteroffers and how your ambitions align with your current job. How might this affect your job search?
- Do you have any holidays planned that could impact your transition?

Review the Job Spec and Know your CV

If the client finds your profile aligns with their requirements, you may be invited for an interview. Rest assured, the Resourcer will support you throughout the process, providing interview preparation tips and all the necessary information. Review the job spec carefully to understand the role's responsibilities and desired skills. Reflect on your CV, focusing on specific roles, projects, and achievements. Consider the challenges you faced, strategies you used, and the impact you made. This will help you articulate your skills and accomplishments effectively during the interview.

Keep in Contact with the Resourcer

We understand that your situation may change, so please keep in touch with the Resourcer if anything comes up. If you receive other opportunities or if your availability changes, inform the resourcer promptly. This helps them manage your application effectively and ensures a smoother process for everyone involved.
